southern africa 2018
welcome to the southern african connect.hubs directory

In this pdf, you will find the profiles of innovative and impactful creative / social impact hubs in Botswana, Lesotho, Madagascar, Malawi, Mauritius, Mozambique, Namibia, South Africa, Zambia & Zimbabwe.

connect.hubs is a joint initiative, by the British Council Southern Africa Arts Cluster programme and the Developing Inclusive and Creative Economies Programme in partnership with Hivos, to support hubs in Southern Africa that drive the creative economies and create social impact in the region.

We define a hub as a physical or virtual place that brings enterprising people working in the creative, cultural and social impact industries together.

Creative and social hubs come in many shapes and sizes. They could be as small as a handful of people or as large as a tribe of thousands: from large buildings that house creative practitioners and businesses to temporary labs and incubation spaces which ignite innovations, or online networks that bring people together through annual programmes or events. While some spaces specialise in a specific sector (e.g design), others welcome a wide range of disciplines. Every hub is as unique as a fingerprint, as its model is determined by its geographic placement, cultural context, community requirements and unique funding model. Creative and social hubs have ultimately become ‘nests for freelancers and micro SMEs to gather’ (Prof. Andy Pratt: City, University of London).

Hubs are people focused and are facilitated by trusted individuals who are well-connected in their sectors – referred to as ‘hub managers’ or ‘hub leaders’ – that broker, maintain and curate relationships among their community. Creative and social hubs support diverse communities of artists, entrepreneurs, activists and culture producers.

The purpose of the Southern Africa connect.hubs directory is to foster connections, partnerships, learning and sharing between hubs. We encourage the use of this directory to communicate with the profiled hubs to spark collaboration or to access the products and services that they provide.

British Council

The British Council is the United Kingdom’s international organisation for cultural relations and educational opportunities. British Council creates friendly knowledge and understanding between the people of the UK and other countries – creating opportunities, building connections and engendering trust.

British Council inspires connections between Southern Africa and the UK by enabling innovative creative insight, opportunities and building communities. The organisation does this by linking creative partners and audiences between the ages of 18 and 35 – online, offline and across disciplines – and focuses this engagement in Botswana, Malawi, Mauritius, Mozambique, Namibia, South Africa, Zambia and Zimbabwe. British Council’s innovative Arts programme in Southern Africa spans from influencing policy and developing leadership and advocacy, to encouraging collaborations and supporting skills and opportunities. for young entrepreneurs, and ensuring great art happens. With digital engagement at the core across its programmes, it speaks to a region that has leapt the digital divide by opting out of expensive wired connections and moving directly to wireless internet options. The Developing Inclusive and Creative Economies (DICE) programme is a 2-year initiative by the British Council. DICE explores the intersection between the social and creative economies as a means through which to tackle issues of unemployment and unequal economic growth for youth, women and girls and marginalised societies. DICE has been launched in the UK and 5 key emerging economies: South Africa, Brazil, Indonesia, Egypt and Pakistan. The programme attempts to create an enabling ecosystem for social and creative enterprises by providing direct support to individuals, as well as intermediary organisations and policy makers. Supporting social and creative hubs is a DICE priority area.

Hivos

Based on a track record of 50 years of partnering with frontrunners in daring, innovative and impactful development programs, Hivos seeks new and creative solutions to persistent global problems: solutions created by people taking their lives into their own hands. Hivos has also organised several Global Creative Hub meetings, such as the Creative Hub Thinktank in Southern Africa, the Coworking Summit in Tunisia, the Future of African Cities summit in Egypt and African Crossroads Summit – The 4th Industrial Revolution in Marrakesh, Morocco.

Electric South

New technologies must open up spaces for original voices and underrepresented narratives. As a non-profit company based in Cape Town, South Africa, Electric South exists to support artists across Africa in emerging storytelling, through labs, production and distribution. Electric South provides mentorship, production services, funding and exhibition for African storytellers to explore their worlds in immersive, interactive non-fiction content including virtual and augmented reality, web, mobile and digital media. "If you want to change the world, change the stories."

Enthuse Afrika

Enthuse Afrika is a group of digital storytellers that use the internet to collaborate on unusual projects to create new brand experiences and generate bankable ideas rooted in African context for global African audiences. African Creative narratives are at the core of their mandate as they facilitate practical digital skills development. Enthuse Afrika has been in existence for three years and has three publications including the Southern African creative expression focused flagship #ENTHUSE.

what we do
IVERCA works in a community development project that explores the cultural heritage of a historic neighbourhood of Maputo called MAFALALA. In this context, IVERCA has put together the “Mafalala walking tour”, the “Mafalala Festival”, “Mafalala Library” and now we are building the “Mafalala Museum” due to open in March 2019.

our vision
Our hub exists to raise awareness of the city of Maputo’s history, and work on identity and memory. We explore an alternative narrative of our history and create job opportunities for the community based on a creative economy of Mafalala.

what we do

Africartoons is a creative hub for Africa’s socio-political (editorial) cartoonists. We work with many top cartoonists in South(ern) Africa, and we’re slowly growing our footprint across the continent. We’re the biggest cartoonists’ hub in Africa. Amongst other things, we host an archive, seminars, talks, workshops, exhibitions, publish books, etc.

our vision

Our mission is to advance the freedom of expression in Africa through the promotion of editorial cartoons, and to advance editorial cartooning by bringing cartoonists closer together. Cartoonists often work in isolation and under threat of censorship (or worse). We aim to promote their rights, viability, and help improve skills.

iSupport

what we do
iSupport is an artist hub that houses the best artists catering to media, branding, business events and to each other. We assume the role of the matchmaker. Apart from being great unique performers and masters of their craft, our artists are fascinating entertainers, eloquent speakers and excellent workshop facilitators.

our vision
We aim to be a place where artists from different backgrounds come together to create projects that will enable them to make a living from their arts. That can be by matchmaking within the creative- or commercial sector or by developing projects in order to apply for funding.

what we do

We run an accelerator programme for digital media start ups and innovation projects. We publish an online magazine and newsletter that documents digital media innovation on the African continent. We hold a programme of events bringing together innovators in digital media.

our vision

Our mission is to support digital media innovators to enrich and strengthen the media landscape in South Africa and Africa. We are committed to encouraging innovation that repairs broken parts of the media system. We disseminate research, enable peer learning and provide mentorship, coaching and connections to funding networks.

what we do

Jazz in the Native Yards supports live jazz performance, from budding to well established jazz musicians that send us requests from SA and from abroad. The performances gives a chance for township entrepreneurs and musicians to display their wares and talent to visitors and local residents.

our vision

The townships have an enviable reputation of being known as uninteresting dangerous spaces that lack talent and aspiration. Jazz in the Native Yards seek to dispel this notion through the concerts that not only show talents but also promote social cohesion between the people of the Western Cape.

what we do

Educate young people in photography, enabling them to connect with experienced photographers for workshops as well as help them run the business online with the help of the Tapsnapp platform (online portfolios and secure payments management).

our vision

Our hub exists because there is no support to help young people and marginalized groups of our society in the freelance/artistic industry. We have discovered that it operates only for the privileged leaving out others who have great talent. So our mission is to make photography inclusive.

what we do
If you combine Yellow Pages and Behance, you’ll get MATCHIE. Our goal is to map out and create a directory of every creative business of quality across SA (And Africa!). From Lawyers to Photographers to Gear rental studios. We want everything to be at MATCHIE.

our vision
People kept coming to 10and5 to ask us “do you have a photographer you can suggest?”. We decided to start putting all the services we know of in one directory for people to search through easily.

what we do
This station seeks to be a people’s tool that will provide a spaces for a diverse array of people from the wider community, interested visitors from all over Cape Town and tourists from outside the city.

our vision
The Station is organised and ran by local community artists. The Station is a unique space enabling us to recognise our collective problems and begin to chart out alternative strategies for social change through arts.

what we do
Mommy Mall SA is a collaborative economy where a closed group of mothers choose to trade with fellow mothers in order to uplift the whole community financially. It has 70 000 Facebook members and approximately R19 million has changed hands between moms since inception.

our vision
Financial, emotional and social upliftment of mothers in South Africa for the sake of the children. Building a better next generation - together.

These showcases include: exhibitions; photo shoots; set design; brand activation; screenings; workshops; talks; classes; markets; pop ups; events; Corporate social investment etc.

Our vision

It is difficult to find well-located spaces to exhibit our art/ architectural work which exploded a new cultural narrative to the city. This is what led to the opening of the space, to create opportunities for other artists/architects experiencing the same inefficiency. Social mission = project based training. Dalistani Ngulube Initiative

what we do
As agricultural students, we use our ability to help promote agricultural initiatives in our area which includes poultry and farming. Our target is to reach a maximum level where we will involve more youth from our community in order to eradicate poverty.

our vision
Our hub exists to promote agricultural practices in our community. It has come to our attention that youth are usually bored and have nothing to do, so in order to fight this, we came up with ideas to involve them in poultry and farming activities.

Black Chalk & Co. is a creative agency bringing together writers, artists, designers, academics, and technologists with a mutual interest in publishing, curating conversations and exhibitions, and facilitating teaching residencies.

Our mission is to empower young adults to develop, manage, and promote themselves by developing a new African narrative. This is done by creating and presenting original, innovative and challenging works that contribute to the improvement in the quality and impact of their lives and talent.

We provide:
- Content creation
- Design
- Workshops

Our vision:
What animates all these activities is the effort to engender a new culture and new forms of publishing and creative production. Our work has led to a run of synchronized events, screenings, and public talks.

Blazer is an online, open-source, multimedia space designed to raise awareness of situations affecting young adults and generate feedback from them in forms not limited to: letters, articles, video, audio and images - consequently leading to positive action for causes and against the negatives.

Our vision:
Our mission is to empower young adults to develop, manage, and promote themselves by developing a new African narrative. This is done by creating and presenting original, innovative and challenging works that contribute to the improvement in the quality and impact of their lives and talent.

what we do
NDT grooms and mentors young artists. It also records young music artists and promotes their music and brand. It organises festival, shows and concerts for upcoming and already nationally established artists. It organises radio, TV and newspaper interviews for young artists. It shoots free music videos for upcoming artists.

our vision
NDT exists because there is a void in the Zimbabwean music industry when it comes to Mutare artists. Most Mutare lack training, guidance, financial support, exposure, social encouragement, appreciation and community understanding. Hence NDT supports the young artists with knowledge, skills, free recordings, free videos and performance platforms.

The Municipal Review
Zimbabwe
est. Jan 2018

what we do

We promote local government accountability, sustainability and transparency through encouraging stakeholder engagement and prudent financial management. We interrogate local authorities on bad audit reports thereby providing an independent oversight on the operations of local authorities. We also engage NGOs working with local authorities to measure their contribution to local development.

our vision

We exist because of a perceived expectation gap and the desire to make local authorities more accountable to citizens. Lack of accountability as well as poor financial management by local authorities need to be addressed and that underpins what we do.
